

Vapza Foods is a processing industry, established in the State of Paraná, southern Brazil, and since 1995, develops and produces “long life” steamed and sterilized food products.

Since its inception, Vapza always sought high quality standards, producing plants in located in an area of 85.000m² and 8.200m² of built area, and the production capacity of the plant is over 1.000 tons/month.

We provide consumers and clients a high level of practicality and speed in preparing healthy, safe and tasty foods.

Production Process

1. Reception of raw material

Product evaluation and analysis per sample for conference quality and quantity of solids.

2. Selection and Peeling

Depending on the raw material, the grains are selected or vegetables are automatically peeled and inspected.

3. Preparation

Meats and vegetables are prepared according to the product. These can be diced, shredded, sliced, minced, etc.

4. Weighing / Dosage per kilo

The product ready for processing is stored in a lung silo, from where it travels on to the multi-head scale for weighing.

5. Packaging / Selling

The packaging containing the product is subjected to vacuum and then sealed. At this stage, the level of vacuum and quality of packaging closure and seal are carefully controlled.

6. Cooking and Sterilization

Packages undergo a steam cooking and sterilization process on an autoclave, with specific time/temperature/pressure program for each product.

7. Storage

The product is kept in storage until the physical, chemical assays, sensorial and commercial sterility assays and tests can be carried out.

8. Shipping

The product receives a specific label, is boxed in micro-corrugated cardboard boxes for shipment.
